

Spring 2018 Communities of Practice Schedule

According to Etienne Wenger-Trayner, "Communities of practice are groups of people who share a concern or a passion for something they do and learn how to do it better as they interact regularly." As a new faculty member, you can, in consultation with your Tenure Review Team, choose one CoP you would like to join for the spring semester based on your individual experience and professional learning interests. We hope the CoPs will create conversational spaces that support discussion of and engagement in the scholarship of teaching and learning. At the January 19th session, all year 1 and year 2 faculty will meet for an overview of each CoP in order to assist you in selecting the CoP of most interest to you.

All new faculty participate

Each new faculty member picks one topic for the semester and must attend all dates for their topic of choice
